

General Prayer

Open the heavens Lord and pour us out a blessing.

‘The heavens declare his righteousness, and all the people see his glory.’

Psalm 97v6

Lord cause your tender mercies to be seen by humanity. Open our eyes to behold your beauty. Help us to enquire of you, so that you may direct our thoughts to imagine, the incomprehensible manifold wisdom of God ordained purpose in our lives.

Father show us the beauty in becoming yielded vessels. Help us to appreciate divine timing to allow the process of our dreams to become reality. Develop us to look to you, instead of the resources we don't have. Increase our levels of obedience so that we may begin to trust you in spite of what we feel or see. Show us how to triumph over the adversary, live in victory and rest, remain and abide in you. Lord teach us to pray.

Amen.
