

A Prayer of Repentance

Dear Jesus, humbly I bow before your presence, realising that you are a Holy God who loves the sinner but hates his sins. You have said that no one who comes to you will be turned away from your presence.

Lord you are a God full of compassion and love. You came not to call the righteous but sinners to repentance, and with that invitation I am coming to you today acknowledging my sins and transgressions, desiring that you would cast them into the sea of forgetfulness. Lord, I desire to be set free from the bondage and enslavement of Satan. For too long he has kept me bound and I now want to be set free to serve you.

As I turn around to face you today Lord Jesus here are my inadequacies... forgive me of all my sins and failings, create within me a clean heart and renew a right spirit within me, make me pure before you. Let my heart be as wax, for you have said a broken and a contrite heart you will not despise. So melt my heart and make me real, as I surrender myself to your Lordship. Let your cleansing stream which flowed from Calvary's Cross now flow through my entire being, and make me holy thine, as I bow my knees in submission.

I accept your cleansing in my life Lord Jesus. I accept your forgiveness by faith as I confess my sins. Wash me with your blood and I shall be as white as snow. Grant me the spirit of Godly sorrow and repentance so that I can be made whole and free to worship and praise you and to love and obey you. Transform my life into that which you desire me to be, and make me wholly thine forever more. Make me a vessel of honour. Let your beauty radiate out of my life Lord I pray. Let my life be a testimony of all your sufficient grace. Teach me your ways dear Lord and make me over again today. In the name of Jesus I pray. AMEN.
